Veeva Solution Vault Platform for Document Management

The Problem

- This company's priority is to increase its annual regulatory submissions while improving quality and reducing costs.
- An on-premise Enterprise Content Management solution had been customized to support regulatory compliance needs. This system was outdated and becoming increasingly difficult to maintain.
- Not having the technology tools to enable its submissions goals was an increasingly pressing problem since the group was making approximately 1,000 regulatory submissions per year.

The Opportunity

- The regulatory team sought a modern, secure replacement for their document management system for regulatory documents and corresponding dossiers.
- The new system would also need to be configurable to follow a predefined structure following good laboratory practices (GLP) and diverse regulatory requirements.

The Solution

- This company selected and is deploying the Document Control application with configuration to manage its regulatory content for archive and registration.
- Key processes supported in this company's application include document management for study reports and quality processes, submissions management, and SOP document management.
